PRESIDENTS' GREETING

AND WE'RE OFF!!

Hi Knitters! We are off and running with our 2009-2010 Guild year, and what a great start we had at the first meeting. We very much missed those of you who were not there, but September is such a busy time for everyone, isn't it? There were lots of conflicts, and many of you had to be somewhere else that night. There will be a bit of a summary of the September meeting, including information about Chris Bylsma's presentation, later in the newsletter. We hope that gives you a little taste of what it was like.

It may seem way too early to ask this, but has anyone started knitting for holiday gifts? Gretl's favorite thing about knitting, as she confessed this summer, is starting things. So she has lots of gifts started and many others planned, for children and grandchildren and husband. Will they be done in time? Can we help each other with encouragement and some knit-alongs? If some of us are working on the same things, perhaps knitting together once a week on that project will be the push that gets things finished. Let's check with each other at the next Guild meeting. December will be here in 2 shakes of a lamb's tail, as my mother used to say.

As this is being written, the wind has picked up and the temperature has dropped. We may miss summer, but isn't it great weather for knitting?

See you soon,

- - -Dorothy Gaines and Gretl Kramer

PROGRAM NOTES

Elizabeth Prose, a well-known teacher from Madison, WI will do a hands on workshop on casting on and binding off.

If you wish to participate, please bring: two colors of worsted weight yarn and appropriate size needles for casting on several unbound off swatches for binding off a crochet hook and blunt tip tapestry needle

And now for coming attractions.....

Our popular Techniques Fair will again be held at the November meeting. If you have a skill you'd like to share with our members, please contact Christy Becker or Linda Jones. With such a creative group, we know we'll have the best instruction!

FOX VALLEY KNITTERS' GUILD
2009 FALL RETREAT, 23-25 OCTOBER

It is almost Retreat time, and I am going to be giving a final head count for beds and meals to Stronghold after the October Guild meeting.

SO:

1. Would you like to come for the day on Saturday but have not signed up yet? Just let me know at the meeting. Cost for Saturday lunch is $8, for breakfast and lunch is $16. We will have a wonderful program after lunch, and I hope we will be busy with another activity in the morning.
2. Can you come for the weekend after all? It looks like there are 4 beds still available, and Stronghold will still let us add you to the list. Just let me know right away. Remember, cost is only $120 for a shared room with private bath for 2 nights, 4 meals, and all the knitting fun you can cram into 2 ½ days.

There will be handouts at the October meeting with details for the weekend including directions, schedule, town resources, what to bring, etc. Oh, I can hardly wait. Have I got some surprises for y'all!

REMEMBERING THE FIRST GUILD MEETING OF THE YEAR

The first meeting of the new knitting season was just what the knitting doctor ordered. The room was full, membership forms were flying, and loud, happy greetings were shared. Some folks had been meeting over the summer, but many were together again for the first time since May.

I missed Dorothy Gaines, the co-president, and mistakenly announced that she was in Italy. Nope, that was a different trip. She was in Ireland, and I am sure she will have some great stories to share with us. Wonder if she saw any wool or yarn there.

Anyway, this meeting was the first with our new feature, a vendor. We were lucky to have our own Emily Parson of Sophie's Toes selling her sock yarn plus her new worsted weight hand dyed beauties.

We had some really fun and some really stunning show-and-tell items. Jodee DeBates showed us a couple things including the cutest pair of baby trousers. What a great kid or grandkid gift! Kate Stough brought, among other things, 2 very sweet knitted turtles to give to Tracey Uher for her Moyamoya project. Tracey walked into the meeting just as Kate finished introducing us to the turtles. (The pattern for Sheldon and his shell is available at www.knitty.com. Search the archives for Sheldon.) And the stunning project was Marion Biagi's "Shawl ala Elizabeth Zimmerman." It is a huge, beautiful, creamy and lacy thing that looks like it could almost be pulled through a wedding ring. Beautiful work, Marion. And thanks to everyone for sharing. If you have items for next month's meeting, think about filling out a Show and Tell form so we can write about your project for the next newsletter.

Next at the meeting was a presentation by the gracious, lovely, funny, beautiful and talented Chris Bylsma. Chris talked about how she started her knit design business. She published her first pattern less than 10 years ago. She decided to self publish and not affiliate herself with a particular magazine or yarn company. That allows her to mix and match her yarn brands and offer many yarn choices to knitters. Her Crayon Box Jacket is one of her most popular patterns and uses a variety of yarns from many different companies. Chris showed us quite a few knitted samples, all lovely and inspiring. She wore her new jacket, Summer Hours, an asymmetric jacket incorporating cables, texture, dropped stitches, half a shawl collar, half a notched collar, well, you get the idea. See it at www.chrisbylsmadesigns.com/patterns.html

Chris had many little hints to give us. Here are a few of them, in my own inadequate paraphrasing. No one can convey them like Chris.

- Experiment and don't be afraid of your knitting! Mistakes can turn into discoveries of something new and wonderful.
- Swatch LARGE, maybe 10" x 10" so you can get a real good look.
- Don't ever forget that there are many different ways to do something in knitting so consider them exactly that, "different," not right or wrong.
- Have fun!!

Chris had so much more to say. If you ever have a chance to talk with her or to take a class from her, grab it. She's just great, and we were very lucky to have her with us. Thanks to Linda Jones and Christy Becker for making the arrangements. Chris Bylsma helped us get off to a great start.

---Gretl Kramer

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

This month our member spotlight is Eileen Hoesly.

FVKG: Your name please.

EH: Eileen Hoesly

FVKG: Where do you live?

EH: Rural Western St. Charles

FVKG: How long have you been a member of the Guild?

EH: 18 years. I was pregnant with my youngest and she just started NIU last month.

FVKG: How long have you been knitting?

EH: Learned to knit 45 years ago. Became a serious knitter 24 years ago as a stay at home mom. After stitching years of needlepoint and dabbling in quilting my old size 10 needles from 1964 called to me to try it again. I heeded the call and never looked back

FVKG: Tell us about one of your favorite Knitting Designers. Why do you like him/her? What patterns have you knitted? Where can we find more information about this designer?

EH: My favorite designer is Melinda Goodfellow who is Yankee Knitter Designs. Her patterns tend to be uncomplicated, easy to follow, and not overly trendy. Also, many of her patterns have baby, child and adult sizes in one so more bang for the buck. I have made many of her pullover sweater and cardigan designs, hats and mittens. I might have the whole collection of her work but haven't taken the time to do the inventory.

FVKG: Favorite Yarn - review one of your favorite yarns. Tell us the Brand/Name/Content/Weight and what you like about it. Tell us about the projects you have used it for.

EH: Alpaca and alpaca with silk or wool is my favorite yarn to work with. I do best with worsted weight and have made many, many sweaters, scarves, hats, and mittens.

FVKG: Why did you decide to take up knitting? What do you like the most/least about it? What are your challenges?

EH: There is nothing I don't like about knitting. I've been a substitute teacher for 13 years in U-46 and have given many lunch time lessons to the kids over the years. I found the Special Needs classes really take to it. The BOYS with Autism surprise me with their fascination at how the working needles actually make something.

What frustrates me is patterns that are overly complicated just to be artsy or the designers have something to prove. I do this to relax and have a creative outlet.

An exciting time for me is going through all my knitting stuff and discovering I had something I forgot about. Or just watching T.V. or listening to music while knitting. The Guild has provided me lots of fun times and friends.

It has been great times and many kinds of experiences. I could write a book.

OCTOBER'S VENDOR: Wool and Company

Our vendor for October will be Wool and Company. This is a chance for the Guild to see, touch and even bring home with them some great yarn and ideas! Lesley reports:

We will bring a selection of the season's latest goodies including new sock yarns, some new 'bobble' yarn that is all the rage, the newest pattern booklets and books. We will also have a special basket full to the brim of $2 per skein (up to 80% off) yarns....perfect for making or adding to your holiday gifts. If anyone would like us to bring anything in particular, (e.g., a certain size of needles, a book or accessory) email me at lesley@woolandcompany.com and I can make sure we pack it.

TIP OF THE MONTH: SLIPPING STITCHES

When a pattern tells you to slip a stitch, it rarely explains whether you should do this as if to purl or as if to knit. Here is a plan. If you need to slip a stitch and then it will wait until you come back to it on the next row, slip the stitch as if to purl. (As if to purl refers to the direction you are entering the stitch only, so as if to purl means go into the stitch from top to bottom--or you might think from right to left. As if to purl, does not want you to move your yarn to the front. A pattern will tell you to do that if needed. If it doesn't say anything, leave the yarn in back.) If you are going to do something with this slipped stitch, then slip it as if to knit. For example, if you are doing an SSK, then slip the stitches as if to knit. One way to remember this is a simple mantra.

KNIT NOW, PURL LATER

However, we are talking about knitting here, where the only rule that exists is, Do Not Split Your Yarn. So, there is still Knitters Choice!

For example, some knitters prefer an SSK that is done as Slip the first stitch as if to knit and slip the second stitch as if to purl. Next month, we'll look at slipping a stitch along the edge of a scarf or a heel flap!

KNITALONG OPPORTUNITIES

Central Park Hoodie Knitalong

Have you wanted to start this sweater since it appeared in Interweave's Knitscene, Fall '06 or when Rosemary Anderson modeled hers in Show & Tell? Well, now is your chance! Rosemary Anderson is very willing to get us all started on this great sweater. She's currently working on her 3rd hoodie. She said the pattern's not complicated. We'll meet on Weds. mornings (from 9:30 am to ?) at the Borders Bookstore in the Marshall's shopping center on Randall Rd. Our 1st Weds. morning will be Oct. 21st, 1 week after our guild mtg. That gives you time to get all of your supplies ready. Please call if you need further info. Looking forward to seeing you there.

Knitalong Anyone?

I would like to get a Knitalong going. I have three slightly challenging projects I would like to start. If anyone has these projects in their queue, let me know and maybe we can organize a Knitalong.

Shadow Knitting - I have 2 Vivian Hoxbro shadow knitting kits. I'm dying to get going on one.
Harlequin coat by Jane Slicer Smith - this is the cover swing coat from her new book 'Swing, Swagger and Drape' that debuted at Stitches.
Nimbus Hoodie from the most recent Interweave Weekend magazine. Designed by Annie Modesitt.

If you are interested, let me know. Either in person at Guild, or send me an email at judy.jasper@comcast.net.
